

Erica I'm not invisible!

When you think of a true hero under God, you have to include Erica. Being homeless and experiencing an almost fatal pregnancy with her son Marcelino, Erica also fought not only one but three battles with Cancer. Always being a believer of God, she refused to let the enemy win. She survived all the world had handed her. Proving to be a strong and beautiful woman time and time again, Erica continued her fight with God by her side, defeating all which was suppose to kill her.

Erica is a true survivor and because of the work of Last Chance Ministries, providing her and her children with the necessities for their physical, emotional and spiritual needs, she now lives cancer free with a wonderful testimony that blesses the lives of many others. Last Chance Ministries partners with God and Daily Bread Ministries to bless Erica and many other families in need.

There are many stories of triumph over incredible odds. To many, Erica is invisible, but she is seen by God and is a life that has value. Through help from the Daily Bread network she and many others are finding hope and a better life.

“Give justice to the poor and the orphan; uphold the rights of the oppressed and destitute. Rescue the poor and the helpless.” – Psalms 82:3-4a

Daily Bread
MINISTRIES

Daily Bread is targeting the poorest zip codes of San Antonio with a strategic outreach program that empowers local nonprofits and churches to help end chronic hunger and poverty by:

- Increasing nutritional meals and food to more children in summer meals and after school programs. Hunger plays a key role in learning challenges in the inner city. Hungry children are less likely to concentrate, retain information, and more likely to be involved in misbehavior.
- Empowering our local partners in character education. Daily Bread recognizes that to create long-term cultural transformation, that people's mindsets, habits, and coping skills must change as well. By "feeding the mind" with positive character curriculum, it will help students make better daily life choices and improve academic performance.
- Empowering our local communities by equipping local churches, non-profits, and businesses to assist areas in their communities with the greatest need. Acts of kindness through service projects mutually benefit those serving and those being served resulting in a strengthened community and city.

The areas of service are endless. Acts of kindness result in a changed atmosphere within communities that have been long forgotten. Daily Bread serves as a bridge to link needs with effective local groups who can help.
